

MRS. ORTIZ WILL COMBAT POILLON SUIT

Tells an Evening World Reporter of Her Troubles, Involving an Alleged Coldness to Her on the Part of "Suspender Jack" McGee.

HE WOULDN'T TAKE HER TO THE ARION BALL.

She Went Alone and Alleges that She Saw Her Friend There with Mrs. Poillon—Hints of Brokaw Disclosures She May Make.

The case of Mrs. Annie Ortiz, arrested yesterday on the complaint of Mrs. Katherine Poillon, who is suing the millionaire, W. Gould Brokaw, for $250,000 breach of promise damages, was called this afternoon in the West Side Police Court. The charge against Mrs. Ortiz is disorderly conduct.

A letter in the possession of Mrs. Poillon shows that Mrs. Ortiz took it upon herself to throw obstacles in the way of the breach-of-promise suit. There are implied threats in the letter that caused Mrs. Poillon enough apprehension to lead to having the writer arrested. Mrs. Ortiz is frank to confess that she does not want Mrs. Poillon to sue her for the breach-of-promise suit.

Back of her opposition is jealousy. She says that Mrs. Poillon became friendly with a man known as "Suspender Jack" McGee, who was formerly on the police force, when McGee should have devoted himself entirely to her. McGee is a boarder in the house of Mrs. Ortiz, at No. 100 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street.

To an Evening World reporter, before the examination this afternoon, Mrs. Ortiz gave her version of the matter. She is thirty-three years old and a widow. McGee has been boarding at her house for over a year, she says.

"I first met Mrs. Poillon," said Mrs. Ortiz, "at the Arion Ball last February. Jack had refused to take me to the ball, so I went alone. I found him there with Mrs. Poillon. Of course I was jealous and when I protested Jack admitted that he had been taking her around."

"I saw her in his company after that, although she used to say that she was engaged to marry Mr. Brokaw. Lately Jack has not had anything to do with her, and she had passed out of my mind when I saw her in the papers early in July that she had sued Mr. Brokaw for breach of promise."

"I wrote her a letter telling her what I thought of her and asking her to call and see me. She sent her sister, who is a female boxer, and a man named Pugh. They asked me if I wanted money and I told them I didn't. All I wanted was to see justice done."

"A week ago last Thursday I telephoned Mrs. Poillon, telling her I wanted to see her that night. She told me to come to her house the next night. I went and told her that what I knew would bar her from ever getting the money of Mr. Brokaw's money. There was a man in the room all the time I was there. He said he was a detective and showed me a shield that looked like those worn by policemen. Money was mentioned then, but I don't know what it was for."

"It is not true that I threatened to shock Mrs. Poillon or to throw trouble at her face, as she said. I don't know Mr. Brokaw. I saw him in the papers and I don't think he ought to be made to pay damages to that woman for breach of promise."

McGee heard the story told by Mrs. Ortiz and corroborated it. He said he was willing to go on the stand if necessary and swear to the truth of her statements.

All Mrs. Poillon would say was that Mrs. Ortiz's statements were untrue.

ONE MORMON MAY PREACH IN STREET.

Mayor Low Refuses Request for Permits for Ten, but Will Issue One.

Mayor Low today sent the following letter:

"Amasa Thornton, Esq., No. 130 Broadway, New York City:

"Sir: There seems to be no sufficient basis for granting the application made by you in behalf of the Brooklyn congregation of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints for ten street preachers' permits."

"I am disposed to grant one permit, if it should be desired, lest a failure to do so would seem to imply that the civil authorities can pass upon religious applications from the religious point of view."

"It goes without saying that if anything is said, under cover of this permit, which is contrary to the law of the State of New York, or of the United States, the permit will be withdrawn. Yours very truly,

"JETH LOW, Mayor."

CABMAN FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING.

Jehu Pays Ten Dollars and Gets a Lecture for Running Down Pedestrians.

Charles Pienberg, a cabman, was fined $10 by Magistrate Flammer in Jefferson Market Court today on a charge of reckless driving. His cab knocked down August A. Ranga and Edward K. Davis, both of No. 29 East Forty-second street, at Broadway and Forty-second street last night. Davis caught the cab and was dragged fifteen feet. He was not injured.

"Some of these cabmen don't know what it means to stop," said the magistrate, "they yell at pedestrians, and drive their horses right over them. It is outrageous that they should have no sense of their responsibility."

MRS. KATHERINE POILLON AND MRS. ANNIE ORTIZ, WHO IS ACCUSED OF THREATENING HER LIFE.

BEAT PRISONER IN PRESENCE OF JUDGE

Indignant Father Follows the Alleged Insulter of His Daughter to Court and Strikes Him Repeatedly in the Face.

Before he could be stopped by the officers in the courtroom Frederick Sutton, a well-to-do merchant of No. 875 Eighth Avenue, sprang at John Roberts, twenty-three years old, a bookkeeper, of No. 44 West Thirty-fourth street, in the West Side Court today and struck him several times in the face.

The man was accused of having attempted to become familiar with Sutton's nineteen-year-old daughter Loretta.

The girl said that last night, as she was walking up Eighth Avenue, Roberts spoke to her, and she introduced him to her mother. The pair went out walking later in the evening, and upon the girl's arrival home, she said, Roberts insulted her.

A policeman was called and Roberts was arrested. He told Magistrate Flammer that he wanted a lawyer, and the case was adjourned until to-morrow, bail being fixed at $100.

While the prisoner was talking to the Magistrate the father of the girl sat among the spectators glaring at him. As the young man stepped away from the bridge, Sutton ran through the gate and before he could be prevented struck Roberts repeatedly in the face. Sutton was dragged away by policemen and hustled out of court.

DENIAL THAT PRINCE FERDINAND HAS FLED.

Object of His Present Journey Announced to Be to Visit Father's Grave at Coburg.

VIENNA, July 24.—The reports that a revolution has broken out in Bulgaria and that Prince Ferdinand has fled to Belgrade, are characterized here as unfounded.

It is explained that July 28 is the anniversary of the death of Prince Ferdinand's father, the late Grand Duke Augustus of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and that the immediate object of his present journey is to visit his grave at Coburg, which is Prince Ferdinand's annual custom.

CONSCIENCE LANDED HIM IN POLICE COURT

Employee Confessed to Mercantile of Receiving Hush Money and He Was Arrested.

David Weidinger, a produce merchant at No. 43 Little West Twelfth street, appeared in the Jefferson Market Court today to complain against one of his employees, Samuel Randolph, of No. 81 Washington street, whose arrest he had caused.

Weidinger told Magistrate Flammer that Randolph had told him he had received $25 from another employee on the promise that he would say nothing about the sale of some of Weidinger's stock for $300, which the other employee, it is alleged, had turned over to himself.

Randolph told his employer, the latter said, that his conscience had stricken him and he wished to confess having received the "hush money."

Magistrate Flammer pardoned Randolph in the custody of his counsel on the young man's promise that he would make restitution for everything he received for his part of the transaction.

WEE WAIF LEFT ON STEP WITH FORTUNE

Baby Boy of Three Months, a Bundle of White, Found at Williamsburg Door with Pocketbook Containing $6.

As Robert Carban was leaving his home, No. 97 Greenpoint avenue, Williamsburg, to-day he found a white bundle in the vestibule containing a three months' old baby boy.

The child wore an embroidered white dress, a white worsted sock with a red border, white lace cap, white worsted shoes and white flannel skirt. Beside the baby Carban found a pocketbook in which there were several slips of paper bearing memoranda and an express receipt for a trunk.

The flap of the pocketbook bore the initials "S. K." It contained $6 in money.

One of the papers was wrapped about a membership card of St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, made out in the name of John Klesner, of No. 963 North Fifth street. On one slip of paper was written "St. Winifred's Home, No. 70 Wood-ley street, take Darby car." Another slip bore the memorandum, Hahnemann Maternity, No. 718 Vine street, Philadelphia.

Besides these papers there was a Dobbs

Express Company receipt made out to "Volmer, 637 East Twelfth street." The receipt was folded up in a transfer of the East Belt Line of this city, given at Fourteenth street at 11 o'clock last night.

The body was turned over to the City Nurse of Williamsburg.

JEALOUS HUSBAND STABBED EMPLOYEE.

Baker Seized Dough Knife When He Found Workman Sitting Outside Store Beside His Wife.

With eight stab wounds, inflicted during a fight at No. 48 Oak street early to-day, Lastimao Laparier, thirty-five years old, an Italian baker, was removed to the Hudson Street Hospital. He was stabbed in the head, back, right arm, chest and three times in the face, and although it was at first thought he was dying the surgeons say he will probably recover.

According to the police of the Oak street station, Laparier was stabbed by Pasquale Impalateri, who runs a bakery and for whom Laparier worked. Immediately after the stabbing Impalateri disappeared.

Detective Maher said to-day that he learned from neighbors that Laparier's attentions to his employer's wife, Rose, were the cause of the trouble. Early this morning Pasquale went out to deliver bread, leaving Laparier in the bakery, and his wife in the store. When he returned, the police say, he found Laparier and his wife sitting together outside the store.

Enraged at this, Pasquale, it is alleged, drew a dough-knife and sprang at his employee.

CANDY

SUMMER CANDY-MAKING tests the capabilities and qualifications of the best mechanics. To produce goods which will withstand the climatic changes of the hot season is an art not easily learned. It takes years to attain perfection, and it is reasonable to suppose that the rural confectioner cannot afford to keep up a force of experts the year round. Hence, when he really needs help he gets what's left. Only the best are employed by us, and through long practice turn out sweets that our country cousins cannot make. Our candies are always fresh and wholesome. No chance for shopworn stuff.
